BATTLE OF BOSWORTH War of the Rosé 2006

‘Whilst there seems to be an army of Rosé around at the moment, many of the recent wine shows I’ve judged (including Adelaide, Clare and McLaren Vale) have yielded pretty dismal pickings. Good Rosé calls for bright red fruit aromas, some semblance of flavour intensity and a balanced palate (think acidity and sugar); not heavy or tannic.

Bosworth ticks all of those adding pure reds fruits, some liquorice and lilting red florals to the list. It neatly delivers berry flavour from top to toe with some musk around the edges and a fresh, balanced finish. Drink cool!’
